Bu test resmi College Board sınavı değildir; Digital SAT Reading & Writing formatına benzer alıştırma sorularıdır. Her soruda doğru seçeneği daire içine alın.

This is an unofficial practice set modeled on Digital SAT Reading & Writing. Circle the best answer for each question.

Directions / Yönergeler

Each question has one best answer. For passage-based items, read the short text carefully, then choose the option that best answers the question. For Standard English Conventions items, choose the option that corrects the blank or completes the sentence correctly.

Her sorunun bir doğru cevabı vardır. Metinli sorularda kısa paragrafı okuyup en uygun seçeneği işaretleyin. Dilbilgisi / noktalama sorularında cümleyi Standart İngilizce kurallarına göre tamamlayan seçeneği seçin.

Question 1

Craft and Structure · Words in Context

Although the museum's new exhibit was widely advertised, attendance remained tepid throughout the opening week. Curators had expected crowds; instead, galleries were often empty by midafternoon.

As used in the text, tepid most nearly means

- A) lukewarm or unenthusiastic.
- B) unexpectedly expensive.
- C) carefully planned.
- D) highly controversial.

Question 2

Craft and Structure · Words in Context

As used in the text, concise most nearly means

- A) brief yet complete.
- B) confusing.
- C) harshly critical.
- D) outdated.

Question 6

Information and Ideas · Central Ideas and Details

Honeybees communicate the location of food through a "waggle dance." The angle of the dance relative to the sun indicates direction, while the duration of the waggle indicates distance. Researchers have shown that other bees can use this information to fly directly to the food source.

Which choice best states the main idea of the text?

- A) Honeybees produce honey by dancing near flowers.
- B) Honeybees use a dance to tell others where food is located.
- C) The sun's position confuses honeybees searching for food.
- D) Researchers taught honeybees a new form of communication.

Question 7

Information and Ideas · Central Ideas and Details

In the 1960s, many cities replaced streetcars with buses, arguing that buses were more flexible and cheaper to operate. Decades later, some of those same cities began rebuilding rail lines, citing congestion and the desire for more reliable transit.

According to the text, why did some cities later rebuild rail lines?

- A) Buses had become more expensive than streetcars.
- B) Streetcars were considered more flexible than buses.
- C) Cities faced traffic problems and wanted more reliable transit.
- D) The federal government required all cities to use rail.

Question 8

Information and Ideas · Central Ideas and Details

Mangrove forests protect coastal communities by absorbing wave energy during storms. They also serve as nurseries for fish and store large amounts of carbon. Despite these benefits, mangrove areas continue to shrink due to coastal development.

Which detail from the text best supports the idea that mangroves help people?

- A) Mangrove areas continue to shrink.
- B) Mangroves absorb wave energy during storms.
- C) Coastal development is increasing.
- D) Fish live in many ocean habitats.

Question 9

Information and Ideas · Central Ideas and Details

Ada Lovelace, writing in the 1840s about Charles Babbage's proposed Analytical Engine, described a method for calculating Bernoulli numbers. Her notes are often cited as an early example of what would later be called a computer program.

The text most strongly suggests that Lovelace's notes were notable because they

- A) proved that Babbage's machine could never be built.
- B) contained an early form of computer programming.
- C) were the first books printed about mathematics.
- D) criticized the use of Bernoulli numbers.

Question 10

Information and Ideas · Inferences

When the library announced evening hours three nights a week, student visits increased sharply. Staff also noted that the number of books checked out after 6 p.m. rose more than daytime checkouts.

Based on the text, which statement is most strongly supported?

- A) Students prefer to study only in the morning.
- B) Extended evening hours made the library more useful to students.
- C) The library should eliminate daytime hours.
- D) Book checkouts always decline when libraries stay open later.

Question 11

Information and Ideas · Inferences

The chef insisted on buying produce from nearby farms, even when imported options were cheaper. She told reporters that freshness and supporting local growers mattered more to her than cutting costs.

It can reasonably be inferred that the chef

- A) values local, fresh ingredients over the lowest price.
- B) refuses to cook with any vegetables.
- C) believes imported food is always unsafe.
- D) plans to close her restaurant soon.

Question 12

Information and Ideas · Inferences

Which inference is best supported by the text?

- A) The novel was immediately a bestseller.
- B) Early mixed reviews did not prevent the novel's lasting importance.
- C) High schools only teach recently published books.
- D) The author never wrote another novel.

Question 13

Information and Ideas · Command of Evidence

A study compared two groups of office workers. Group A took a ten-minute walk outdoors at midday; Group B remained indoors. In the afternoon, Group A completed a focus task 18% faster on average than Group B.

Which finding, if true, would most weaken the claim that outdoor walks improve afternoon focus?

- A) Group A workers reported enjoying the weather that day.
- B) Group A and Group B had identical workloads in the morning.
- C) Group A had already scored higher on focus tests before the study began.
- D) The outdoor route was approximately half a mile long.

Question 14

Information and Ideas · Command of Evidence

City planners claim that adding bike lanes on Main Street will increase the number of people who bicycle to work. They point to a survey in which 62% of residents said they would bike more if dedicated lanes existed.

Which piece of evidence would best support the planners' claim?

- A) A nearby city saw bicycle commuting rise after installing similar lanes.
- B) Main Street currently has heavy car traffic at rush hour.
- C) Some residents prefer buses to bicycles.
- D) Bike lanes are less expensive than building new parking garages.

Question 15

Information and Ideas · Command of Evidence

Explanations / Açıklamalar

- 1. A — Context of empty galleries and unmet expectations points to weak/unenthusiastic attendance.
- 2. B — Students with little background could follow — so lucid = clear.
- 3. B — Paired with “enormous scope,” ambitious means large in scale/intent.
- 4. B — Several theories that vie as explanations = rival/alternative.
- 5. A — Few pages covering years of research = brief yet complete.
- 6. B — The whole passage explains how the waggle dance conveys food location.
- 7. C — The text explicitly cites congestion and desire for reliable transit.
- 8. B — Absorbing wave energy during storms directly protects communities.
- 9. B — The text says her notes are cited as an early computer program.
- 10. B — Visits and evening checkouts rose after evening hours were added.
- 11. A — She prioritizes freshness and local growers over cost.
- 12. B — Despite mixed early reviews, it stayed in print and is widely taught.
- 13. C — Pre-existing higher focus scores would explain the result without the walk.
- 14. A — A comparable city that saw increased bike commuting is direct supporting evidence.
- 15. A — The experiment is presented as evidence for her claim.
- 16. A — Common assumption → correction → practical implication.
- 17. B — It gives visitor guidance: where to go, maps, tour times.
- 18. C — The second sentence contrasts with the first → However.
- 19. B — Sequential process: collect, then test → Next.
- 20. A — Lower cost causes more affordability → As a result.
- 21. A — Opening date + historic register listing best emphasize historical significance.
- 22. B — Two independent clauses joined by coordinating conjunction need a comma before and.

- 23. A — An appositive (the book title) is set off with commas on both sides.
- 24. C — A colon introduces a list after an independent clause.
- 25. B — Dependent clause before independent clause → comma.
- 26. B — Subject is “pair” (singular), so “was left.”
- 27. C — With neither/nor, verb agrees with nearer subject “players” (plural) → were.
- 28. B — “Last summer” requires past tense → hosted.
- 29. C — Modifier “Walking...” must modify Maya (the walker), not spices.
- 30. C — Parallel structure: excel, contribute, and demonstrate.
